On Exhibit at the Milwaukee Art Museum

European Design Since 1985: Shaping the New Century is the program for November 11 meeting

The Racine Art Guild is happy to welcome Barbara Brown Lee to speak about the current exhibit at the Milwaukee Art Museum. The exhibit, European Design Since 1985: Shaping the New Century, is sponsored by the Museum's FRIENDS OF ART. The exhibition is organized by the Indianapolis Museum of Art and the Denver Art Museum in conjunction with Kingston University, London. It is curated by R. Craig Miller of the Indianapolis Museum of Art and organized at the Milwaukee Art Museum by Mel Buchanan, Mae E. Demmer Assistant Curator of 20th-Century Design.

European Design Since 1985 is the first analysis of contemporary Western European design from 1985 to 2005. The objects—some familiar, some surreal—blur the line between fine art, craft, and design. A main theme is about two ways of looking at design: Is design about industry? Or is design about art?

Meeting will start at 6:30 on November 11 followed by our program.

RAG welcomes Barbara Brown Lee

Barbara Brown Lee is currently the Milwaukee Art Museum's Chief Educator. Barbara has been intimately involved in many aspects of the evolving museum since 1963, not only serving as educator but as first contact for many individuals and organizations. Barbara studied at the University of Arizona, the University of Guadalajara, Mexico; the Winterthur Museum Institute; and the Attingham Summer School, Shropshire, England, and elsewhere.

She has received a Wisconsin Outstanding Art Educator Award presented by Wisconsin Art Education Association, and has served on the Board of Directors of the Creative Sharp Presentations, Inc., involved in literacy programs. When why she has spent her life looking at art and interpreting it for others. She replied, "Because art talks to me about life on the planet. Our skills, our abilities, our creative imagination . . . to me, an art museum is the soul of mankind."

Education Committee to Meet before Nov. Meeting

There will be application forms available that are necessary to fill out before working in the schools. There are currently 9 members on this committee. Join them if you have the time and interest.
